“ I had the privilege of knowing Jensie the last two years. She was such a loving soul, always thinking of others. She loved her sons and talked about them daily. She is such a strong woman and never complained and always persevered through all of her obstacles. She will be missed. I am thankful to have known her she has made an impact in my life I will cherish her always. Love you Jensie!

“ My heart is broken knowing you are gone. We had so many great times at each other's houses and playing softball. We'd ride horses when you moved across the river closer to the house. I pray you're at peace and I'll see you again. Until then, I'll always carry you in my heart.

As we start the process to say good bye, I keep wishing for one more. One more hug One more I love you One more time seeing you sitting in your chair One more smile One more conversation While the one more will never come, the memories will remain there forever.
