“ Missing you Ghee...

When I remember you, I celebrate all that you taught and shared with me when I was most impressionable. I often think of our long nature walks at Nanny’s “old house in the mountains”. Living in FL, that house might as well have been at the top of Mount Everest to a kid like me. I loved it! I remember you telling me how important it was to drink lots of water and take my vitamins. You always showed us that being care free and silly produced the best medicine....laughter! And there was a lot of that when you were around. I remember eating our weight in pickles and watching Soap Operas when you had us for the summer. But one of my favorite memories was stomping in rain puddles in front of your old building...You loved it as much as we did, which was the best part. Everyone knows that I’m a strict mom, but because of your influence...I’m also silly sometimes and I teach my kids to love nature and animals the way you taught me. We love you Ghee! Thank you for all the memories.

“ When I think of my grandmother Ghee, I think of a free-spirited, fun-loving soul who lived her life to the fullest. Even though she definitely deserved many more years here with us, she also accomplished so much during her life. I will miss hearing all the stories she would tell about her childhood and adult-life. Some of my favorite memories with her include going to the local movie theater together, we would always go watch the Planet Earth movies because she loved everything about nature and animals and she would always remind me to bring a bottle of ice cold water to drink! As I was looking through all her old pictures this week, I came across this quote that was attached to a small piece of paper. I find peace reading this knowing we will meet again. I can't wait to share all her stories with my children one day and let her memory live on. We miss you so much already Ghee. Love you always!

“ Our sweet Ghee... there is so many things I want the world to know and remember about her. She was fun, loving, cultured, opinionated, down to earth... this list goes on and on! She was the first person to show me that being silly and "weird" was ok. That being independent is not being lonely! She showed me that being common is ok and being over the top is ok too. Her love for ALL things in life is inspiring. Our world was beautiful with her in it but the impression she left behind in our souls will carry on for centuries. I miss our puddle stomping days. I miss her telling me how important water is for my body. I miss driving in old car with no a/c, and no radio. Most of all I miss her laugh. She could never just smile... it was always a laugh and when I see her in pictures I can hear it. Our family was lucky to have this free and beautiful spirit for 77 years!
