“ Nancy I already miss you so much! Our weekly phone talks and especially your positive attitude that everything was going to be just fine. I know you are in a wonderful place now free of pain and those of us that loved you are praying for Jim and your family to cope with your loss. You were a wonderful friend and I will never forget you. ❤️

“ My amazing Nana, you will forever be missed! Nancy was the woman who raised me all my life. She taught me to be the strong woman and loving mother I am today. She instilled so much of herself in me. She taught me how to cook, how to bake, started my love of coffee, put up with me thru my ups and downs. She was always in my corner cheering me on no matter what I was trying to accomplish. She was there for the birth of my babies Raylan and Ayvah. She loved with all of her heart, she never gave up on anyone. She was a warrior through and through. She used to always read me this book at bedtime while she scratched my back to put me to sleep, it was called "I'll love you forever". And throughout the past years we started quoting it to eachother in cards or messages or video chats, and I would always tell her "I'll love you forever, I'll like you for always, as long as I'm living my Nana you'll be" to which she would say "forever my Lizzie you'll be". I miss those messages so very much but I'm so happy I get a lifetime of memories with such an amazing and wonderful woman. She was a mother to me, not a grandmother. Love you forever My Nana!!!

“ Nancy was a ray of light and love. She dearly and fiercely loved her Jim first, then her family and friends. Nancy was a shining example of courage and positivity. I love you, Nancy. You are missed so much already.

“ I will miss you my "prayer warrior"!!! You may have been Doris's friend first but you became such a blessing to me when I needed it most. I know anyone who ever met you will miss you terribly...just as I will. I will miss our conversations. I'm praying for Jim and your family and friends. Heaven certainly gained a special angel when you left us!!! Will miss you forever my sweet friend!!!
