

Sandra Davis Donaldson

February 24, 1948 - August 1, 2024

Sandra L. Donaldson, lovingly known as Sandi, passed away peacefully on August 1, leaving a deep void in the hearts of all who had the privilege of knowing her. Sandi's warmth, kindness, and unwavering spirit touched countless lives, and her legacy will continue to inspire.

She is now reunited in eternal peace with her beloved mother, Shirley F. Hulsman; father, Lyle E. Davis; sister, Sharon L. Donovan; brothers, Patrick E. Jones and Gregory L. Jones; and nephew, Michael B. Johnson.

Sandi's memory will be cherished by her devoted children, daughter Heather D. (Donaldson) Hunter and her husband Chris, and son Jason B. Donaldson. She also leaves behind her brothers Michael D. Jones and Douglas S. Jones; sister Kelly E. (Davis) Beckley and her husband Dana; her beloved grandchildren Evan Miller, Bethany Miller, Tristan Hunter, Nicole Perrone, Bradley Donaldson, and Lauren Simmons; as well as niece Staci (Johnson) Hall; nephews Hunter J. Hall, Marshall L. Hall; and great-niece Taylor S. (Glenn) Lewis.

Sandi's career began in the 1970s as a Mary Kay Consultant, where her passion for helping others quickly became evident. She went on to break new ground as a female executive in direct sales, marketing, and training with companies such as Avon, Southern Living, Aloette, INatural, Larome

International, and Prime Quest. Sandi was a true leader in her field, earning the respect and admiration of her peers.

Later, Sandi founded Moriah Marketing, where she continued to share her expertise as a consultant for start-up companies and as a motivational speaker for The Symposium Group. Her insights and guidance were instrumental in the successful launches of many businesses.

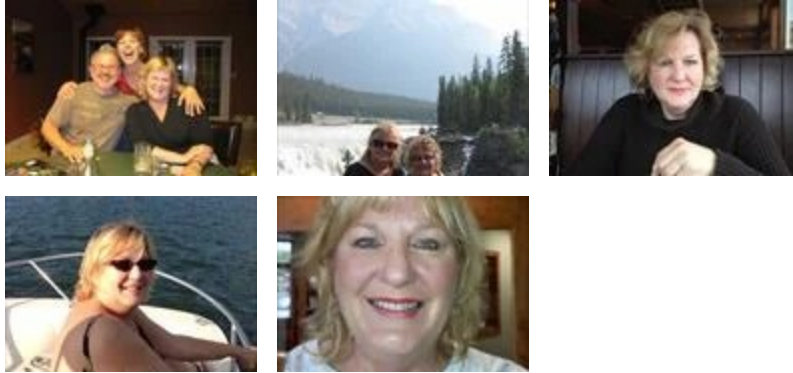

In her retirement, Sandi found joy in hosting guests at her beautiful Mountain Majesty Home in North Carolina through VRBO. Her generous spirit extended beyond her professional achievements, as she was deeply committed to philanthropy, with her prison ministry being particularly close to her heart.

The family will gather at her home to spread her ashes and celebrate the remarkable life she led, honoring the love, wisdom, and strength she imparted to all.

“ *I loved when she arrived at Camp Robin Hood with her amazing smile and sparkle in her eyes. She was full of life. It made my day. She loved Heather and that was always apparent in the way she looked at her daughter and how proud she was of her. She was a larger than life kind of women and always made me filled loved.’
The world has lost a dear one.* ”
